Publication Fee

International Journal of Advancing Research, Innovation, and Entrepreneurship (IJARIE)

The International Journal of Advancing Research, Innovation, and Entrepreneurship (IJARIE) operates under an open access policy to ensure the widest possible dissemination of research. To support this model, the journal charges publication fees to authors. These fees cover the costs associated with the review process, typesetting, proofreading, and hosting the article online.

The standard fee of £100 (Pound Sterling) shall be paid for all accepted article types, including research articles, review articles, short communications, case studies, editorials, and letters to the editor.

Discounts and Waivers

IJARIE offers several discounts and waivers to support authors from various backgrounds:

- Low and Middle-Income Countries (LMICs): Authors from countries classified by the World Bank as low or middle-income are eligible for a 30% discount.
- Institutional Agreements: Authors affiliated with institutions that have subscription or membership agreements with IJARIE may be eligible for fee waivers or discounts.
- Reviewer Discount: Reviewers who have completed a review for IJARIE within the last 12 months can receive a 15% discount on their next submission.

Payment Process

Authors will receive an invoice upon acceptance of their manuscript. The payment process is as follows:

1. Invoice Generation: An invoice will be sent to the corresponding author via email after the manuscript is accepted for publication.
2. Payment Methods: Authors can make payments through various methods, including credit card, bank transfer via the bank details provided below, or PayPal. Detailed instructions will be provided in the invoice.
3. Payment Deadline: Payments must be made within 30 days of the invoice date. Delays in payment may result in delays in publication.

Fee Waiver Application

Authors who are unable to pay the publication fee can apply for a waiver by submitting a Fee Waiver Application Form along with their manuscript submission. The waiver application should include:

- A detailed explanation of the reasons for the waiver request
- Evidence of financial incompetence or lack of funding
- Any supporting documents that may strengthen the application

Applications will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis, and decisions will be communicated to the author(s) within two weeks of submission.

Refund Policy

Publication fees are generally non-refundable. However, refunds may be considered in exceptional circumstances, such as:

- Withdrawal of the manuscript before the review process begins
- Errors in billing or overpayment

Requests for refunds should be made in writing to the editorial office, detailing the reasons for the refund request.

Upon accepting the manuscript, prospective authors can also make payments using the bank details listed below:
